“HEY, LOOK AT US!” CONTEST BRINGS FALL FUN TO TOWN OF PIKE ROAD

The “Hey, Look at Us!” hay bale decorating contest has many Town of Pike Road neighborhoods festively adorned for the harvest season. Twenty-nine of the town’s neighborhoods and businesses participated in the competition in its second year.

“Hey, Look at Us!” is a project of the town’s Neighborhood Leaders program. During the last two weeks of October, large, round hay bales were delivered to participating neighborhoods and businesses. Teams then had a week to decorate the bales in a harvest theme, and prizes were awarded to the top five displays. Those prizes are as follows:

- First Place: Merry Station (Pike Road)
- Second Place: Kerington (Mathews Road)
- Third Place: Oak Ridge (Vaughn Road)
- Honorable Mentions: Farmington (Old Carter Hill Road) and Pike Road Post Office / American Cancer Society (Pike Road)

“The ‘Hey, Look at Us!’ competition is one way our Neighborhood Leaders group is honoring the old-fashioned, family-oriented lifestyle that has long marked the Town of Pike Road as a unique place,” said Mayor Gordon Stone. “We hope that folks will come out, drive through our many neighborhoods and enjoy this one-of-a-kind celebration of fall and hometowns.”

Photos of all entries can be viewed on the Town of Pike Road’s website, www.pikeroad.us, and photos of the winning hay bales are attached to this release. For more information on Neighborhood Leaders or the “Hey, Look at Us!” contest, please contact Gordon Stone or Charlene Rabren at 272-9883.
